

The drum represents the Native American tribes from Alamance County. It shows me how they played music back in their time. The river shows how important the Haw River is to Alamance County. The rivers in the forest makes me think that is how we used to get water to drink, water our gardens and farms, and travel from place to place. The colors red, white and blue stand for "Justice for all!" Green represents nature. There are so many trees, flowers, grass and leaves in Alamance County. The brown represents tree bark, food wood and bricks.

Alamance County is a great place to live because of its rich history, river and nature!
