This is my county flag submission:

The water is blue with herring swimming in the bay. And there is a boat with a lady pushing a cannon off the ship. And for the background, there is the old courthouse with a sign that says 1767 for that is the year it was built. And I forgot to mention this but there is a cardinal on the tip of the boat, though you can't really see it. And Then against the brick courthouse there is Penelope Barker signing an important document about tea so that she could support that they are not gonna drink tea or use British goods anymore. On the ground there is some words that say crown county 1668 because right underneath 1668 is the word Edenton because Edenton was made in 1668. The tea pot is also there on the ground and that is there because it also stands for the Edenton tea party.
