I love living in Gaston County! I drew a butterfly, a flower, trees, and Crowder's Mountain to show the beautiful nature of our county.

The big heart that says, "I love Gaston County" was to represent how lovely Gaston County is to me and how much I love it.

The sunset in the background was to show just how beautiful Gaston County is and the church is to show how faithful our county is.

The different colors that I chose show that our county is made up of many different people and things, and that helps make where we live special.

I also like going on hikes at Crowder's Mountain with my family, and I really love going to the Schiele Museum and the library.
