Washington County has many different things, but the things I included were the most common things to symbolize. The black bear stands for how common the Black Bear is. It also stands for the Black Bear Festival. The corn stands for how much corn we grow and plant, and cotton is the same way. George Washington is on the flag because Washington County is named after him. The NC logo stands for North Carolina which is where Washington County is located. Washington County has three towns: Plymouth, Creswell, and Bopem.
